Macy Named to Public Works Association Posts

Metro Public Works Assistant Director Mark Macy has been appointed director of the Middle Tennessee Branch of the Tennessee Chapter of the American Public Works Association (TCAPWA).

Macy, director of MPW's Engineering Division, has also been named to a national APWA task force regarding the reauthorization of SAFETEA-LU federal transportation funding legislation, which expires in 2009.

On an as-needed basis, Macy will represent APWA at meetings with the US Access Board which is charged with writing new regulations concerning accessibility in public right-of-way. Other agencies represented include the U.S. Department of Transportation, FHWA, Institute of Transportation Engineers, AASHTO, Dept. of Justice, and TRB (Transportation Research Board).

In his role as Middle Tennessee Branch Director, Macy is in line to serve as future president of TCAPWA, which has 400 members statewide. Macy received a degree in Civil Engineering from Ohio University in 1973, and was employed by engineering firms in Ohio, Kentucky, Mississippi and Florida before joining Metro Public Works as Director of Engineering in 1995.
